AUGUST 2017

The Rector writes:

“As I write this letter, we are in the last week of the school term and of course, being the summer, that means some will be moving on even as all move up a year. I have the privilege of leading the Leavers' Services for both Wimborne St Giles and Cranborne First Schools, where our Year 4 pupils are looking ahead to starting in Middle School come September. At Cranborne Middle School it is the Year 8 pupils who will be moving up, while at QE the Year 11 pupils will be preparing to start Sixth form or college courses. Safe passage and good luck to all of you!

If you are anything like me, your memories of school days will probably be a mixed bag. There were good times and some definitely bad times. There were good friends and mean bullies. I wonder though what has lasted for you? I would have to say that I can recall very little detail of individual lessons, they blur into a fused impression of happenings. Friends stand out and teachers.

Dig a bit deeper still and ask, what, in that 'impression of happenings' has created a foundation of knowledge that you use still, every day? I wouldn't know a quadratic equation now if it hit me in the face, but I mastered them well enough to get an O level (GCSE for youngsters!) back in my time. Every day though I read and write and do quite a bit of adding, subtracting, multiplying and dividing, all things which go right back to my earliest classes and my first school. Such things are the foundation to everything else and, like good foundations they remain below the surface and hidden. Without the foundations though, I would have got nowhere. There are other foundations too which your teachers contributed to; things like building a good work habit, learning to keep going if things were hard, all the things that build up character.

So this summer I urge you to spare a thankful thought for your teachers, especially those barely remembered infant teachers and ask yourself where you would be without them. Thank you Mrs Logan and Mrs Bonnet from me and if any of you reading this are teachers, enjoy a well-deserved summer break!”
